SEA TURTLES

DID YOU KNOW?
The world's largest sea turtle, the leatherback, grows to more than two metres long and weighs 900kg!

Sea turtles pre-date dinosaurs and have been around for more than 100 million years!

They spend most of their life in the ocean but come ashore to nest on sandy beaches.

All seven species are endangered, but the hawksbill and Kemp's ridley are critically endangered. Threats include poaching, habitat loss and getting entangled in fishing nets.
